Winters soccer wins playoffs, falls short in championship

On Tuesday, Feb. 22, the Winters High School men's varsity soccer team won their away, playoff game against University Prep by a score of 2-0 and advanced to the Championships on Saturday, Feb. 26 where they went head-to-head against Williams High School and lost by a score of 2-0.

The Warriors came ready to play during their playoff game against University Prep, putting pressure on their opponents and maintaining possession of the ball for a majority of the game. Winters scored quickly during the first half of the game. Pedro Garcia scored for the Warriors on a free kick and Salvador Torres scored off an assist from Jacob Baker.

While Pedro and Torres were the only two players to get a ball into the net, the whole team worked extremely well together, were organized in their game play and played with a lot of aggression. "The guys stopped any attempt U-Prep made to make a goal, winning balls in the air and reflecting any attempted shots," said head coach Fernando Cervantes.

Hernan-Christian dez, Esai Garcia, Christian Hernandez and Javier Bermudez led the Warriors defensively, attacking the ball and pushing it up the field to regain possession.

The Warriors felt confident going into the championships after the win.

Softball starts off season

By Sydney Andrade

The Winters High School varsity softball team is working hard to gain its footing after some tough losses at the start of the season.

On Friday, Feb. 25, the softball team lost their first non-conference game of the season against Fairfield by a score of 21-10.

While the loss against Fairfield High School was devastating, the Warriors fought hard and played a great game against Rio Vista High School on Tuesday, March 1, securing their first day, March 1, securing their first win of the season during their innings with three strikeouts, both helping lead their team to victory.

Jayle Jimenez, Kathryn Johnson and Makayla Garland all had an amazing day at bat. Jimenez is a freshman on the varsity team, and went three for three with two hits and two runs scored. Johnson went three for three with one double hit, and Garland went three for three with two hits and two RBI's.

Isabella Mehl and Sierra Berry also had a great day at bat, both batting one for three. Mehl hit a double RBI and Berry was able to get on base and used her speed and smart base running to score two points for her team.

In addition to having a great day at bat, Jimenez also played a very strong defensive game leading her team with eight outs. Jimenez was followed closely by Alexis Hellinger with five outs, Berry with three outs, Emily Aguiar and Grinbergs with two

The win against Rio Vista gave the Warriors the confidence boost they needed; but unfortunately they took another hard loss against Wheatland High School by a score of 16-1 on Wednesday, March 2.

Jimenez had another great day at bat going two for two with one hit and one RBI, while Mehl used her speed to get around the bases after being walked by Wheatland's pitcher.

While Winters did make a few fielding errors, it wasn't the cause of the loss. Wheatland was just the better team that day and liked the pitches that Garcia and Grinbergs were throwing at them.

On Friday, March 4, the Warriors lost their home non-conference game against Woodland Christian High School by a score of 14-11, which was a much closer game compared to the loss

Grinbergs was also liking the Woodland Christian pitches, going three for three with two hits and four RBI's. Dennis,
Wright's grandson, is a sixth grade Winters
Middle School student in the robotics club who developed an interest for robotics during summer camp.

Dennis has been working extremely hard, alongside his teammates Andrew Coleman and Damien Chiasson Larson, to reprogram their robot to move at a faster speed, while still maintaining its ability to effectively get up the ramp.

"Our robot hasn't won any competitions yet, but it has got some awards, which is pretty cool," said Dennis.

Coleman said that in the last competition their team was falling behind so they had to make a bold move and ended up tipping the other team's platform over and then stole their goals.

Their team was inspired by a robot that one of the high school teams built and are hoping that the adjustments they are making to the gears will give their robot the speed it needs to win at the competition.

Freshman Miles Mariani has also been successful in some of the competitions and decided to only make a few minor adjustments to the build of his robot.

"Our big issue last time was getting caught up in the rings on the ground, so we moved the wheels in to help us get around more effectively. Other than that we are ready for the upcoming competition," said Mariani.

Other teams are making huge adjustments to improve their chances of winning again.

While winning the state competition is the goal at the moment, a lot of the students have expressed a desire to make engineering or computer science a career.

"My hope for this program was to create a community of students that are passionate about science and technology with the skills and initiative to become the next generation of leaders and create positive change in their respective in their respective career fields," said Dianne Halsey, the Robotics Club and Engineering Teacher at WHS.

He noted that the resident deputies' presence goes "above and beyond" the county's normal patrol staffing, with those deputies having the added responsibility of making contact with local businesses, schools and communi-

Resident deputies also enjoy "flex shifts" that allow them to attend community events such as town-hall meetings and football games in order to build relationships there.

Express Yourself

Jill Vincent, Operations Manager AMR: Douglas Brim, Interim EMS Administrator for Yolo County and Fire Chief Brad L. Lopez (right) listen to Casey Stone sharing about how he is grateful for a second chance at life.

How do you thank someone for saving your life?

If you are Casey Stone, you serve them all lunch at the fire-house. There was a small ceremony last Friday thanking our local first responders, both our fire and am both our fire and am-bulance personnel, with a "save." Less than eight percent of people survive a car-diac event without some kind of disabilsome kind of disability or death. As Casey was barbecuing hamburgers, he seemed just fine, but he admitted to needing a little help with his memory. In January, Casey had a cardiac episode, nice words for a heart attack. The stars lined up that day as his wife was home with him and the call came in and were in the Stone's kitchen within two minutes, followed by the ARM ambulance crew. They stabilized him and got him to a hospital where over the next week he flat lined, twice. Casey woke up 7 days later with no memory of what had happened to him. Fire Chief Brad Lopez called the save a "remarkable event a "remarkable event,"

Some of us would like to believe that God was watching over him, others might say he was just lucky. Either way, Casey and his family are glad that he has a second chance. Casey are glad that he has a second chance. Casey doesn't need to make changes in the way he lives his life because he is already one of the good guys. He has been active in schools and ag programs his whole life, making donations of jerky and other treats for fund-raisers from his Yolo Land and Cattle Company.

I know that his family is still in shock and won't welcome the publicity, but Winters is still a small town and most people already know what happened.

Our fire department. Our fire department and ambulance serand ambulance service can always use a little good news, and I'm sure they appreciated the luncheon and awards ceremony. They all received a save pin to wear on their uniforms.

With all that is going on in the world, a little good news goes a long ways.

The tides are changing for Winters High School varsity basketball. While a couple of wins here or there used to be the benchmark for success, both the men's and women's varsity squads put together remarkable seasons that redefine what Warrior basketball is capable of.

For the varsity women, it all started with a win. Not just the first win of the season, but the team's first win in over a year. This coming under the tutelage of new head coach Jeff Christian, and a roster without any true seniors (with Ieva Ziemele being the exception as a foreign exchanged student).

"There's always that grind and period during a season where you say, 'Man, is it over yet?' because you experience so much emotion through competition and that comes with a price tag. But, with this year's team I never felt that because of these incredible young ladies," Christian said, talking about his team's chemistry. "They love each other and I've never coached a team where the players were all in for each other all season long, and that's what made this possibly my most memorable season. It was so much fun."

As impressed as Christian was with his Warriors, he was memorable season. It was so much fun."

As impressed as Christian was with his Warriors, he was equally impressed with the town they represented.

"The community support has been incredible. It's what attracted me to come to Winters. The size of the community, the size of the school and knowing it'd be tight-knit and well-supported," said Christian. "The value of community, I describe, as having each other's back, standing shoulder to shoulder to go in and compete and support each other 100 percent regardless of any outcome. That's definitely unique to

With an overall record of 8-13, the Warriors are set to return next season to do even better. At the end of the year, Emily Dodic received the All-league award, while Ahtzire Figueroa took home the Coach's award.

Meanwhile, the varsity men took care of business as well.

"I told my squad this was a fantastic season and that they're setting up a foundation. The seniors did a great job at requiring effort from everyone to stay playing at a high level," said head coach Brendan McShea. "The seniors were the point of the spear in getting these wins and buying in after not know and buying in after not knowing me for that long. The guys returning are excited and hungry to prove this is the start of something and not just a great season."

Much like the women, the men's team shared incredible chemistry that radiated in victory and defeat.

"At the end of every practice we'd get in a circle and do 'put-ups' because it's important to acknowledge what other guys are doing and say what you're noticing the others are doing for the team," said McShea. "One guy would get a put-up for explaining a drill, another for picking someone up when they were down or pushing someone to See SEASON, Page 3

Planning

Homeowners can get as much as a 215 per-cent return on landcent return on land-scaping investments, according to Bank-rate.com. But these improvements aren't made overnight, and the seasons play a key role in what you plan and went. You'll want to time certain plant and went. You'll want to time certain plantings based on when they'll thrive, keeping in mind that some months in summer and winter are simply too harsh for young plants to take root. Pay attention to whether attention to whether they'll receive full sun or not, as well. Start by cleaning up the yard, removing clutter, removing removing clutter, weeds, branches and other excess items, then begin designing your new space. A landscape professional can help complete your vision.

Plants

Landscaping should draw your eyes to the door, whether in front or back. Plant or place or back. Plant or place pots with blooming flowers along walk-ways toward the porches. Select trees, bamboo or climbing plants to hide unsightly places in the yard, or to create privacy if homes in your neighborhood are too close together. Trees add value aesthetically, while also providing shade and insulation that helps with utility bills.

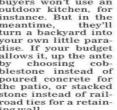

Outdoor Features

Backyards, decks and patios are made complete with op-tions like fire pits, fountains, outdoor kitchens and wellkitchens and well-placed lighting sys-tems. Not all of it will necessarily help with resale because some buyers won't use an outdoor kitchen, for instance. But in the meantime, they'll turn a backyard into your own little paradise. If your budget allows it, up the ante by choosing cobblestone instead of poured concrete for the patio, or stacked stone instead of railroad ties for a retainroad ties for a retain-ing wall.

Wine & Food

An afternoon delight — sandwich and wine sandwich is a basic, and comforting meal. From the grilled cheese and PB&J of childhood, to the fancier grilled panini and messy Philly cheesesteak options of adulthood. The main way to ruin it is to add an undesirable condiment or to cut it the wrong way. (Just ask most any 4-year-old about the latter.)

Local sandwiches were one of my favorite lunches in high school. Depending on how much time I had, I would run down to Cody's Deli or Lester Farms Bakery to get in an order. I eventually even figured out you could order ahead of time for quicker pick up.

Sandwiches are easy enough to make, and customize to your current whim. Want sandwich is a basic, and com-

Sandwiches are easy enough to make, and customize to your current whim. Want a midnight snack? A blackberry preserve and crunchy peanut butter spread on toasted bread. Need a morning pick-meup? Fried egg and cream cheese on a because you skipped breakfast? Toasted sourdough layered with sharp cheddar, turkey, sliced tomato, garden-fresh lettuce, pepperoncinis, dijon mustard and Preserve's jalapeño jelly. However, I've come to decide in my 41-years-of eating that no matter how you layer it, a sandwich tastes better when someone else makes it for you. Lester Farms Bakery was my favorite place with the ability to custom-build your sandwich of choice. Grab a paper, mark your preferences and moments later you were presented with your sandwich. Now, with the bakery closed, I've had a think about my new go-to sandwich fix.

While you can certainly, custom order—sometimes it feels like an extra hassle to go through each element to remove or add. Luckily, Steady Eddy's has the perfect sandwich that features all of my fa-vorites. The Turkey Bacon Avocado is my local favorite sand-

This week, I ordered my sandwich to go. I was in a generous mood and I saved half of it for my husband to enjoy when he got home from work. You may enjoy an ice tea or soda with your sandwich, I took the opportunity to pair it with aglass of Turkovich Family Wines Roussanne.

I'm no expert, but of my options at home, the Roussanne seemed like the better choice compared to the bold reds on my wine rack. The pairing didn't disappoint.

I am talking about the cheesy sensation known as the toasted pesto chicken sandwich on ciabatta bread. Which, by the by, happens to be my absolute favorite local sandwich. There are other tremendous 'sandos' in Winters, of course, but this one ... oh mama.
